

NTCCC Members Update – Building for Recovery Launch

February 4, 2021

Today alongside a coalition of construction sector associations, the National Trade Contractors Council of Canada (NTCCC) is proud to be a part of the launch of the Building for Recovery coalition. The coalition is centered around urging federal and provincial governments to deliver on infrastructure investments and is coordinated in partnership with Associated Equipment Distributors (AED), the Canadian Construction Association (CCA), and the Association of Consulting Engineering Companies – Canada (ACEC – Canada).

The coalition was developed to encourage those working in and supportive of the construction sector to send a letter to their local representative at both the federal and provincial levels, asking for support to deliver infrastructure investments to help rebuild the Canadian economy in the wake of COVID-19. By visiting buildforrecovery.ca, members are able to participate in moments by simply adding their name, address and email into the online tool to send these letters to their representatives.

Our sector is ready to play a key role in rebuilding Canada's economy but in order to do so, we need all levels of government to deliver on infrastructure investments. We know that these investments will not only stimulate the economy but also create immediate employment opportunities and improve the quality of life for all Canadians.

Send a letter now on buildforrecovery.ca and encourage others in your networks to take a few moments to do the same! Together we can urge both levels of government to take action and deliver on billions of dollars of investments so we that can rebuild our economy.

We also encourage members to share this message on social media. Should you wish to share on social media, we have prepared social media materials which are attached for your use.
